Japanese Ivory Netsukes.

These curious carvings in ivory are nearly all idols or used in worship. They are rare even in Japan, and must have cost originally a very large sum of money. They are in the usual grotesque style and  $1\frac{1}{2}$  to 3 inches high. I have seen similar specimens sell at \$25 each; and though I do not think these will bring anything near that, they should all bring good prices.

- 537. Daikokon, god of wealth. Fat, squatty figure.
- 538. Curious dog, very finely carved.
- 539. Angry monkey in a reclining posture.
- 540. A hybrid animal protecting Zebis' fish. Desirable carving.
- 541. A fat puppy, very pretty.
- 542. The god of talents. An aged man.
- 543. A young doe, traveling companion of the god of talents.
